About FlexNet

In the Network of Excellence (NoE) FlexNet, 17 participants from eleven European countries work together in order to support Europe in becoming the world leader in the field of Flexible, Organic and Large Area Electronics (FOLAE).

Accordingly, FlexNet is structured in three platforms:

- ▶ FOLAE Materials and Devices Integration
- ▶ Systems Integration
- ▶ Knowledge, Dissemination and Transfer to industry

The knowledge associated with these topics is being actively made available to European stakeholders from research and industry, especially SMEs in Southern and Eastern Europe. This makes FlexNet a bi-directional catalyst for information transfer in the FOLAE area between West-Central- and South-Eastern Europe. It also enables FlexNet to promote the commercial exploitation of the existing scientific excellence in the field of FOLAE all across Europe.

Mapping the existing educational programmes in the field of FOLAE (Flexible Organic and Large Area Electronics) around the world

The web portal FOLAE – higher education aims at giving an overview of university education in this field of science in order to bring together young researchers, employers and universities.

Depending on your point of interest, it can be useful to:

- ▶ Get information on education and training courses
- ▶ Find Universities offering higher education and training programmes
- ▶ Initiate collaboration between scientific groups, and also with industry
- ▶ Recruit young researchers / professionals with relevant experience
